

Village Hosts Educational Forum on Historic Preservation—November 20, 2006

The Village of Kenilworth Community Affairs Committee will host an educational forum on historic preservation on Monday, November 20, 2006 at 7:30 p.m. at the Kenilworth Assembly Hall. This educational session will include speakers from Landmarks Preservation Council of Illinois. The speakers have been asked to cover the following topics pertaining to historic preservation:

- Voluntary designation of homes/buildings on the National Register of Historic Places including related economic benefits of voluntary designation.
- Voluntary designation of historic districts on the National Register of Historic Places.
- Local historic preservation ordinances and commissions.
- Incentives for preservation including preservation easements and property tax freeze.

This educational forum is expected to be the first of several forums exploring the topic of historic preservation. Additional workshops may include topics such as the impact of historic preservation activities on local economics; municipal staff from area communities responsible for implementing local preservation ordinances or historic district designations; and representatives from surrounding municipalities who have or are serving on their local historic preservation commission.
